Who will receive a $7 billion solar grant?

Washington - Today, April 22, as the Biden-Harris Administration celebrates Earth Day, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency announced 60 selectees that will receive $7 billion in grant awards through the Solar for All grant competition to deliver residential solar projects to over 900,000 households nationwide.

What is the $7 billion solar for all program?

Oops, something went wrong. Check your browser's developer console for more details. Under the $7 billion Solar for All program, the 60 grant recipients will create new or expand existing low-income solar programs, which will enable over 900,000 households in low-income and disadvantaged communities to benefit from distributed solar energy.

What is a solar for all grant?

The Solar for All grants aim to speed up that shift, says David Widawsky, director of the EPA's Office of the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund, which manages the program. But it isn't just rooftop solar. Widawsky says the money will also go toward batteries that allow solar customers to store their energy.

How will EPA's 60 solar for all program help low-income households?

EPA estimates that the 60 Solar for All recipients will enable over 900,000 households in low-income and disadvantaged communities to deploy and benefit from distributed solar energy. This $7 billion investment will generate over $350 million in annual savings on electric bills for overburdened households.

Who gave Salas the solar panels?

The nonprofit that gave Salas the panels is called GRID Alternatives, and it, along with other awardees, is about to get a big boost from the federal government. Later this summer, the Environmental Protection Agency expects to begin distributing $7 billion through its "Solar for All" grants.

What are Biden's new solar grants?

Forty-nine of the new grants are state-level awards, six serve Native American tribes and five are multi-state awards. They can be used for investments such as rooftop solar and community solar gardens. Biden is making the announcement at northern Virginia's Prince William Forest Park, about 30 miles southwest of Washington.
